EDPR says Nation Rise Wind project is on schedule

Kory Glover
Record Staff

CRYSLER – With the project still advancing at a steady pace, EDPR held their second public open house on Thurs., Oct. 17 to answer residents' questions about the Nation Rise Wind Farm project.

"We've been trying to do this on a monthly-basis," said Ken Little, Nation Rise project manager. "Initially, we were trying for the first Thursday, especially since it's gotten much busier with the hulls... we'll continue to have these on a monthly basis."

A question that the EDPR team gets a lot is the probability of turbine failure.

EDPR wrote that a turbine tower collapse is a rare occurrence, stating that the probability of tower failure is one in 425 years. They also mentioned that, with over 300,000 wind turbines operating worldwide, there has been no injury to the public from turbine failures.

Little also stated that they work with local fire departments, practicing drills in the event of an emergency. "What we do with all of our projects is work with local first responders," said Little. "With most sites, on an annual basis, we'll have

Learning can be fun!

Carolyn Thompson Goddard
Record Staff

CHESTERVILLE – It was a busier night than normal at the Chesterville Branch of the SDG County Library on Oct. 15, when the Canadian Library Month Open House was held and people were able to have a bit of fun with Ozobots.

Library services clerk Jennifer Harper, explained how these little robots are used to introduce coding to people. She demonstrated how the Ozobots are able to read codes you can make yourself using black, blue, green and red markers and white paper.

She commented how these tiny robots are a wonderful introduction to the world of coding providing a way to learn while having some fun. The Ozobots are available at the MakerLab in the Finch Branch or on a rotating basis at other SDG County Library branches.

Harper mentioned the Ozobots will be at the Chesterville Library branch until Oct. 29 and will be joined by Makey Makey which enables you to discover the world of creative circuitry between Oct. 19-29.

With Halloween on the horizon, Harper mentioned there will be a Halloween party for kids on Oct. 26 between 10:30 a.m. and noon. She continued there will be a lot of old-fashioned fun during the event such as bobbing for apples, spooky stories and of course candy, crafts and costumes!

training, inviting local fire departments.”

Another frequently asked question the EDPR team gets is the final turbine numbers and locations and the key factors in the decision-making process.

EDPR wrote that the final 29 locations have been selected and released to the public via the project’s webpage; also mentioning that each turbine location is uniquely chosen through engineering and energy assessment factors.

As of last week, the start of the erection of the towers has begun, starting in the northwest section of the project, closer to the Russell boundary.

“Those towers are being erected, having more deliveries occurring and foundations are nearly complete,” said Little. “We have only maybe one or two left to be poured for the base and the pedestal piece that sits on top, a few more of those still need to be poured.”

The wind turbines will be installed on privately-owned properties only.

As of the week of Oct. 21, construction updates include turbine delivery on the north side of the project, electrical work at substation off of County Road 13, continued road improvements, construction of access roads, turbine foundation and assembly work and installing collection lines.

For a full list of construction updates, visit updates.nationrisewindfarm.com to keep up to date. Little stated that, even with a small hiccup here and there, construction of the project is still on schedule. The next meeting planned will be a Community Liason Committee (CLC) meeting in late November, the date is still to be confirmed.

2019 Avonmore Firefighter Run

AVONMORE – For several years, the Avonmore Firefighters Association has been holding a fundraising walk and run throughout the streets of the small North Stormont community. This year, the event was held on Sat., Oct. 19, with 124 people participating in the fundraiser that raises money for extra training for firefighters, the purchase of extra equipment and funding for a bursary at nearby Tagwi Secondary School, according to firefighter Garnett Last.

Last explained that this was a timed race that utilized a chip implanted in the race bib before commenting how it was a perfect fall day for the event, with people able to enjoy the colourful leaves and cool weather while running in the race. Last commented that the race “wouldn’t be possible without all the volunteers and the community” continuing how the local businesses provide great support to the run and thanked the Roxborough Agricultural Society for providing a “fantastic” breakfast.

In conjunction with the Avonmore Firefighters Run, the Roxborough Agricultural Society held their annual breakfast at North Stormont Place providing participants and race supporters with the opportunity to enjoy a complete breakfast of eggs, sausages, toast, pancakes, baked beans, mixed fruit and breakfast beverages.

If you are interested in race results, a link to this information has been provided on the Avonmore Firefighter Run Facebook page.

“What a night!” – Eric Duncan

After the polls closed at 9:30 p.m., occasionally Sam McLeod and Adrian Bugell, Duncan’s campaign co-chairs, would interrupt the televised election results from across the county with vote updates from SDSG; it soon became apparent that Duncan would be the next federal Member of Parliament for Stormont, Dundas and South Glengarry. After being introduced by Guy Lauzon, the long serving MP for SDSG, Duncan entered the crowded room at the Ramada Inn in Cornwall where close to 200 supporters and friends had gathered earlier in the evening; Duncan entered the room to the sounds of bagpipes. During a brief statement, Duncan thanked his family members for their support, his campaign co-chairs and campaign volunteers and Guy and Frances Lauzon for their support and assistance in the 2019 federal campaign. Duncan then made his way through the crowd of supporters and spoke with people offering their congratulations. Elections Canada results as of press time listed the following voting statistics: Green Party, Raheem Aman, 2,080 votes (3.9%); Conservative party, Eric Duncan, 28,848 votes (54.2%); Liberal party, Heather Megill, 13,585 (25.5%); New Democratic Party, Kelsey Catherine Schmitz, 7,567 votes (14.2%) and People’s Party, Sabile Trimm, 1,178 votes (2.2%). The Elections Canada website also noted that voter turnout was “53,258 of 84,723 registered electors (62.86 %)” not including “electors who registered on election day.” Thompson Goddard photo

Children’s Halloween Costume Brunch – Victoria Street Café

CHESTERVILLE – Come on out for an afternoon of ‘Bloodcurdling Brunch’ at the Victoria Street Café starting from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. on Oct. 27. Wear your Halloween costume and come play games and eat scary food (ok, not really as scary as they are cute) at the local Chesterville café/restaurant located in the beautiful dining room of the McCloskey’s Hotel. “There will be scary eggs, mummy meatballs, and witches’ brews on the menu,” said owner Amanda Burger “and we will be giving the first 15 children, who arrive in costume, a loot bag to take home.” When asked what inspired the idea, Burger said, “when I was young I worked for weeks on my costume for Halloween and then only got to wear it once and in the dark! I wished I could go out during the day and show it off, so we are giving children in the area a place to do just that.” This coming Sunday from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. at Victoria Street Café - 22 Victoria Street, Chesterville. Reservations recommended, please call 343-585-2415.

CASTOR Country

By Tom Van Dusen

Bobbing for votes

The federal election voting process Monday was for me, even though I didn't get a registration card in the mail, relatively painless. The question of where to mark my X... well, that was another matter!

I went to the voting station upstairs at the Russell Arena and worker Marty Chesser quickly located me on 'The List'... I presume of people considered competent enough to cast a ballot. I went into the booth and did my duty. Scanning the options, I landed on Conservative Pierre Lemieux and there I stayed.

I knew I was going that way but it was strictly a vote for Pierre the man; with their multi-billion dollar promises, none of the parties, including his, give me even a smidgen of confidence they're not going to continue driving this country into the poorhouse.

On the way out the door, Marty suggested that what I had just done would be the highlight of my day. As I briefly watched heads bobbing up and down in the booths, I knew what the highlight would really be...

and it wouldn't be gritting my teeth and scratching out a vote.

It would be the otters. My first and cutest bobbing heads of the day were in the Castor River. About 8 a.m., I was crossing newly renamed Carscadden Bridge to get milk for my tea at Pronto when a guy walking his dog on the other side beckoned me over. I'd seen the guy around but didn't really know him; he was pointing to the river below.

My first thought was that there was a body floating down there. Why did I think that? Maybe it was because I've been watching reruns of Cold Case Files on Netflix. I'm sure the thought had nothing to do with Election Day!

I joined the guy and looked down and away toward the dam. Three otters were down there bobbing and weaving, apparently fishing, peering up at us with the same amount of curiosity we had for them.

"They're otters. They were in the open water near my house last winter but people didn't believe it. Now they're back," the guy said with obvious satisfaction. I looked hard. No, they weren't muskrats or beavers... these critters were displaying that classic frolicking otter behaviour! It was like suddenly adding a circus attraction to the modest little river.

I know otter behaviour well. Lately I've been up close to otters, viewing the star attractions at Brockville's Aquatarium. These creatures only stop zipping around their enclosure long enough to take a close, critical look at the people on the other side of the glass partition. I mourned with other fans at the recent news the mother otter, Ivy, had not reawakened from anesthetic applied during surgery to remove an abscessed tooth.

In 45 years of closely monitoring wildlife activity in and around the Castor, I don't recall ever seeing an otter. My brother Mark who's been doing the same for an equal amount of time says he can vaguely remember spotting an otter about 25 years ago. But Mark's memory can't be trusted! At the time I told him there were otters down below, he was crossing the bridge in his new family van making moose calls out the window.

I decided to go to the source of educated information about the Castor, a tributary of the more fulsome South Nation River which bisects Chesterville. I called up Naomi Langlois-Anderson, SNC's senior wildlife biologist, who told me that encountering otters on the Castor is an unusual event... not that they're endangered or at risk, but they're not often seen in urbanized parts of the watershed.

They hang out in places where there's likely to be more food which, for otters, is largely finny fish, crayfish, fresh water clams, frogs and other tasty water-born morsels; they're more common at the South Nation's source in the Spencerville area which is heavily treed and food is plentiful.

Naomi was thrilled to hear about the Russell otters as it's a good sign of a healthy natural environment; for otters to thrive suggests enough food which in turn suggests a local ecosystem in relatively good shape. She explained they're making something of a comeback after being hunted almost to extinction when demand for their fur was high.

In other words, when otters are present and they're happy, the rest of us should be happy... even on Election Day!

That's a Good Question

from kids either running away from home or simply wandering off and getting lost.

There was also an incident in the 80s when an unknown individual poisoned Tylenol bottles, which raised the fear of a stranger tampering with things we consume.

There was a story in Ottawa back in 2016 that claimed an unknown man put sewing needles in his candy, and the result was that a little girl bit into one, but was unharmed. What turned out to be the truth in this case was that the girl planted the sewing needles in the candy herself for unknown reasons. Ottawa Police tweeted about the incident the morning of Nov. 1. Many cases of tampering turn out to be hoaxes or pranks from relatives or friends, not strangers.

The only confirmed case of a stranger tampering with Halloween candy comes from Minneapolis in the year 2000, where an adult was charged with "adulterating a substance with intent to cause death, harm or illness," after putting needles into chocolate bars. Luckily, none of the children who received the tampered candy were seriously injured.

What really started the Halloween candy 'stranger danger' scare was the story of Ronald O'Bryan, who is sometimes referred to as 'The Man Who Killed Halloween'. Back in 1974, Ronald took his son Timothy (8) and daughter Elizabeth out for a night of trick-or-treating.

Later that night, after ingesting a Pixy Stix, Timothy began exhibiting symptoms of poisoning and he passed away while in transit to the hospital. It was later proven that the Pixy Stix had been laced with cyanide. Ronald weaved a story blaming a neighbour for the poisoned candy but was soon arrested himself after being linked by physical evidence.

Why did he do it? Ronald was heavily in debt and poisoned his son to collect on the insurance money to ease his financial burden.

While it is of course still prudent to check halloween candy; remember, sometimes the true horror can come from the most unexpected places and people. Check with your local police force for suggestions on how to best check your child's candy, and safety precautions to take during the night of Halloween.

Why do we check our kids' Halloween candy?

by: Kory Glover

Halloween is a well loved North American tradition where you can dress up as your favourite ghost or ghoul and children can make the expedition to gather as many sugary treats as their pillowcases can hold.

Most parents will be well aware of the yearly reminder to always check their child's bag of candy before letting them dig into it; in the event of a stranger tampering or poisoning any items. While the fear is broadly felt, and police and other institutions still recommend this precautionary step, as the holiday approaches, it is interesting to look at how common strangers tampering with Halloween candy really is.

Well, for starters, the fear of strangers has been played up a lot in the past few decades; with more news stories coming out surrounding the nature of violent crimes, child abuse or just a shift in culture. This was shown in the aftermath of 9/11 when people were afraid to go trick-or-treating in large buildings, including local malls. The fact of the matter is, our fear of strangers is often completely misdirected. For example, studies show that children are more likely to be abducted by a family member. In 2014, the RCMP's statistics showed that in the 41,342 reports of missing children in Canada, 122 were from parental abduction while only 29 were related to stranger abduction. They also showed that most missing child reports were

South Mountain Library celebrates 10th Anniversary

The SDG Library's South Mountain Branch celebrated their 10th Anniversary at their location on Main St. in South Mountain on Thurs., Oct. 17. There were 55 visitors who participated in the celebration. The festivities were marked with a wine and cheese event that included a trivia board, memorial slideshow and a commemorative sketch of the building. "The event brought together a variety of people with a connection to the branch – patrons, Friends of the Library, former staff and current staff," said Susan Wallwork, communications & marketing librarian. "The celebration allowed people to reminisce about the history of the branch, in this location as well as previous locations, and also to think about the future of the branch." The anniversary celebration coincides with Canadian Library Month, a time dedicated to honouring libraries and the value they bring to our communities. Pictured above are some of the 55 participants in the event.

United in faith 150 years later

Kory Glover

AVONMORE – 150 years ago, St. James United Church was founded in Avonmore, when the circuit was comprised of four regional points including Avonmore, Northfield, Roundhill and Monkland, local historian Murray Barkley noted.

“The first settled preacher, from 1871 to 1873, was the Rev. John Storer, who conducted services every second Sunday,” said Barkley, who spoke about the church’s history during Sunday service. “[During the] first two years, they preached in one of the first schoolhouses,” he added.

Barkley recounted that Rev. Storer was followed by 22 other Methodist ministers between 1873 and 1925. Meanwhile, St. Anders Presbyterian Church had been built on the highest elevation in Avonmore in 1890. By 1923, St. Anders had gathered 214 members,

Senator addresses congregation

morphing the much smaller Methodist congregation just down the street. In 1925, the village’s Presbyterian split over the issue; rejecting union with the Methodists by a vote of 102 to 90. The ones who voted in favour of the union, including the minister, marched down the village’s Main Street, braving stones and heckling from the more enthusiastic opponents. The march ended at the Methodist church where they were welcomed with open arms, and the first service was held in February of that year, Barkley explained.

Barkley continued to talk in great detail about the establishment’s history, going through the years that helped define the church to what it has become today.

After Barkley’s presentation, Ontario Senator, and old friend to the neighbourhood, Rob Black was invited up to say a few words about the church and his own memories of it.

“It’s amazing to think about the history of this church and this area and how it has affected this community,” he said. “This building has been around for almost 94 years and people have been attending church in this spot for 150 years, it’s very impressive.”

Black stated that he loved rural communities because everyone knows their neighbours and he attributes the community’s togetherness to the influence of the church. “People in lots of places don’t know their neighbours and people don’t drop in to see each other; they may text or email but they don’t drop in,” he said. “In rural areas, we always seem to be able to foster that sense of community and friendship and a big part of that, if you ask me, is churches. Churches often organize events, fundraisers and provide a place where we can meet new neighbours.”

Black ended his presentation with a reading from one of his favourite books, Oh, The Places You’ll Go by Dr. Seuss. “One has to wonder what they were thinking about when they first started building a church here and how they might have related to that story,” he said.

After the service, residents were invited to stay for a complimentary breakfast and some conversation.

William Shearing addresses Canadian Club

Carolyn Thompson Goddard

MORRISBURG – There was a full house at the Canadian Club dinner held at the Morrisburg Legion on Oct. 16 when LCol. (retired) William Shearing was the guest speaker. Shearing, a former Commanding Officer and Honourary Colonel of the Stormont Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders, spoke on the history of the “Glens”.

In just over 45 minutes, Shearing spoke on the military history of Stormont Dundas and Glengarry, which dates back to the coming of the United Empire Loyalists in 1783, the formation of militia units in which all males between the ages of 16 and 60 were required to join, the service of the local militia regiments during the War of 1812, the Twin Rebellions of 1837 and the Battle of Windmill Point in 1838.

The Stormont Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders perpetuate many of these regiments as well as the 59th Stormont Glengarry Battalion that was created in 1868, the 154th Battalion, Canadian Expeditionary Force in the First World War and the 1st Battalion, 2nd Battalion and 3rd Battalion Stormont Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders, which saw overseas service, service guarding the St. Lawrence canal system and service in the post-war occupying force in Germany respectively. Shearing mentioned the close connection and continued relationship with the locations in France, Belgium and Holland which were liberated by Glens with many tours to these places over the years.

Members of the SDG Highlanders have served and continue to serve in UN Peacekeeping and Peacemaking forces, served in Canada during peacetime, times of war and in times of national crisis. Information on such organizations as the Regimental Foundation, Regimental Senate and Glens’ Foundations and their role in the history of the “Counties Own” was provided, and a sense of pride emanated from the speaker to the audience while he spoke on the historical connections between the SDG Highlanders and local communities throughout the years.

The Morrisburg & District Canadian Club meets throughout the year for dinner and to hear distinguished Canadians or guests from different nations speak on matters of local, national or international importance. For more information on the upcoming meetings, please contact a member with the next

Legislature invites post-secondary students to participate in Model Parliament Program

CORNWALL – There is a great way for civic-minded, post-secondary students from Stormont-Dundas-South Glengarry to learn about the Ontario Legislature, said SDSG MPP Jim McDonell.

“Students can get a hands-on and engaging democratic experience by taking part in the Model Parliament Program,” McDonell said. “Participants will get [to] network with key figures in Ontario’s Parliament and learn about how Legislature works for the people of Ontario.”

Over three days, students will get to participate in specialized workshops. This will culminate in a parliamentary simulation in the Legislative Chamber itself. Students must be permanent residents and be enrolled in a recognized post-secondary institution (college or university).

Please visit www.ola.org/en/visit-learn for more information. Online applications will be accepted until Oct. 27. For any inquiries, please message modelparliament@ola.org.

How bazaar!

The Winchester District Memorial Hospital hosted their annual Fall Bazaar on Fri., Oct. 18, in the lobby at the hospital. There were numerous volunteers on hand and lots of local baked goods, fruits, vegetables, preserves, knittings, Christmas decorations and much much more. The Fall Bazaar has been happening every year for over 40 years with one consistent contributor. Mountain Orchards have donated apples to the bazaar every year since the beginning according to Bev Beck (organizer). Crearars Honey has also been a great contributor over the years. Some of the volunteers posed for a picture early in the afternoon. The volunteers are: front from left, Gloria Summers, Louise Arsneault, Norah Martel, Bev Beck, Brenda Pascoe and Margaret Countryman; back from left, Susan Shay, Karen Graham, Elinor Jordan, Lynn Dillabough, Joan Farlinger, Sharyn Manley, Faye McCurdy and Ruth Shearing.

WILLIAMSBURG – There was a good turnout for the open house held at the Williamsburg Fire Station on Oct. 19. In addition to a barbecue lunch, there were plenty of games, tours of the station and trucks as well as giveaways designed to promote fire safety awareness for people of all ages. The highlight of the event had to have been when Sparky the Fire Dog arrived to the delight of everyone present. This was the final fire station open house in South Dundas which were held to celebrate the Fire Prevention Week campaign.

Demo Derby

Continued from the front day of the event was a typical fall day in Eastern Ontario, with sunshine and cool weather with spectators enjoying the thrills of the demo derby and the opportunity to enjoy a snack, purchase a souvenir or visit with friends and neighbours during the event.

Firefighters from the Chesterville Fire Station were on duty during the event and were quick to respond when a car flipped during one of the heats. Ontario

Demolition Derby had crews on hand to ensure the derby rules were followed, so all were able to enjoy the event in safety.

Carol Johnson, president of the Chesterville & District Agricultural Society, was pleased with the event and wished to thank all the volunteers who worked to make it happen. Johnson also expressed her thanks to the Chesterville firefighters, Premier Medics and Carruthers Equipment for their assistance. When asked about upcoming events, Johnson mentioned Winter Storage Intake is set for Oct. 26 between 8 a.m. and noon.

Muddy demo pit

There was a lot of mud flying during the Season Ender Bender Demo Derby. Despite the heavy rains a few days earlier, the sun shone on derby day to the enjoyment of spectators and participants alike.

Repeat winners at Easter Seals Ball Hockey Tournament

The Annual Ball Hockey Tournament for Easter Seals in Williamsburg at the J. C. Whitteker Park on Sat., Oct. 19, was a big hit again this year. Organizer, Brian Shaver, said they had six teams vying for the title which was held by team Patterson who won the tournament last year. Each of the participants was supposed to raise at least $20 in pledges to be eligible to play in the tournament. The tournament raised over $4,000 with the top pledge getter Jason Rooney delivering $600 worth of pledges to receive the trophy again this year. Rooney has had the distinction for six years. Griffin Patterson's team repeated as Champs with a 4-2 victory over the South Dundas Midget Lions. The Lions spotted Griffin a 2-0 lead, then responded with two goals of their own to tie it. Patterson's team potted two more in the final period to make it 4-2. Team Patterson members are, from left, Jonathan Rylaarsdam, Logan Merrit, Griffin Patterson, Willy Dejong, Randy Keller, Cal Bilmer, Tyler Rae and Adam Lapier (goalie).

Touring local producers

Sheep farmers and producers were invited on a tour of county sheep farms throughout Stormont and Glengarry on Sat., Oct. 19. The tour first took them through Berwick at Therihof Jerseys (pictured here), then to Lunenburg at Sleepy Shepherd Farm and then finishing in Alexandria at Michel Bourcier's farm. The purpose of the tour was to show the process and tribulations other sheep farms have to face on a daily basis while also teaching participants how to improve their own operations.

Ontario providing more support for hospital care in Stormont-Dundas-South Glengarry

CORNWALL — Ontario is taking further action to end hallway healthcare by making increased investments in the province's hospitals. On Oct. 17, Jim McDonnell, SDSG MPP, announced additional funding for hospitals in Stormont-Dundas-South Glengarry and Prescott-Russell, including:

- Cornwall Community Hospital - $2.05-million;
- Winchester District Memorial Hospital - $280,000;
- St. Joseph's Complex Continuing Care Centre - Hotel Dieu site - $86,000;
- Hawkesbury and District Memorial Hospital - $321,000; and
- Glengarry Memorial Hospital - $108,000.

"Our government is supporting local hospitals by ensuring they have the resources they need to meet the growing needs of our community," said McDonnell. "This new investment in these invaluable hospitals is another example of how Ontario is supporting high-quality and timely access to healthcare, while delivering on our commitment to end hallway healthcare."

Across Ontario, the government is investing an additional $68-million to support small- and medium-sized hospitals. This new investment is on top of the $384-million more that Ontario's hospitals received this year as part of the province's 2019 budget.

The Embrun Panthers travelled to Centre 76 in Athens to take on the Aeros on Sat., Oct. 19, in the CCHL2. The Panthers sat in third place in the Martin Division one point behind the Casselman Vikings and one point up on the Ottawa West Golden Knights.

The Aeros remained winless after their first 10 games and are the only team remaining that has zero points in the standings. The Panthers wasted no time in taking the lead, scoring just eight seconds into the first period as Tristan Taillefer scored his 10th goal of the season from Cayden Martin taking a 1-0 lead.

The Panthers made it 2-0 when Jarrett Ladouceur scored his third of the season from Cameron MacMillan and Marshall Drevniok at 9:51. The Panthers took a three-goal lead when Robert Beaudoin scored his sixth of the season from Tyler Cummins on the power play at 16:10. The Panthers took a 3-0 lead into the first intermission. The teams battled to a scoreless second period with the Panthers carrying the 3-0 lead into the second intermission. Neither team was able to find the score sheet again in the third period as the Panthers took the game 3-0 for their second consecutive shutout.

Picking up the shutout in the Panthers' goal was Felix Schnell.

Panthers 2 Glens 0

The Embrun Panthers travelled to the Billy Gebbie Arena in Alexandria to take on the Glens on Fri., Oct. 18, in the CCHL2. The Panthers sat in a fifth place tie with the Winchester Hawks in a tight Martin Division with five teams separated by just four points.

The Glens sat in eighth place with just one win on the season. The Panthers opened the scoring at 2:59 of the first period as Matthieu Brennan scored his first goal of the season from Tristan Taillefer and Jacob Lamont.

The Panthers took the 1-0 lead into the first intermission.

The teams battled to a scoreless second period with the Panthers outshooting the Glens 11-7. The Panthers carried the 1-0 lead into the second intermission.

Neither team was able to find the back of the net for the first 18 minutes of the third period, but the Glens pulled their goalie in favour of an extra attacker with just under two minutes remaining. That decision would cost them, as the Panthers' Taillefer scored his ninth goal of the season in the empty goal from Cayden Martin and Cameron MacMillan with just 1:28 remaining in regulation.

The Panthers hung on for a 2-0 victory. With the win, the Panthers moved to a two-way tie for second place in the Martin Division. The Panthers outshot the Glens 40-30. Picking up his first shutout in the CCHL2 was William Nguyen making 30 saves.

October is Breast Cancer Awareness Month

Tougher than breast cancer

Taking breast cancer seriously

October is Breast Cancer Awareness Month and a good opportunity to review prevention guidelines. Here's what you should know.

Self-exams are no longer recommended

While public health organizations used to recommend women perform regular self-exams, their lack of reliability often lead to unnecessary tests and worry. In addition, cancer in its earliest stages may be missed during a self-exam.

Regular screening mammograms are advised

Screening mammograms are the most effective way to detect breast cancer early. Women between the ages of 50 and 74 with average risk of breast cancer should undergo a mammogram every two years. Those with an increased risk should follow their doctor's recommendation regarding screenings.

Keep in mind that early detection remains the best way to fight breast cancer. To learn more, visit cancer.ca or pinkribbon.org.

Breast cancer in Canada

In 2017, over 26,000 Canadian women were diagnosed with breast cancer, representing a quarter of new cancer diagnoses in women. That's 72 women every day in 2017. About one in eight Canadian women will develop breast cancer in her lifetime, and early detection is crucial for effective treatment.

Promoting health and wellness

EMBRUN – For many decades, fighting cancer has focused on finding a cure; perhaps overshadowing the search for a cause.

That's the idea behind this year's Health and Wellness Day held at the Embrun Recreation Centre on Sat., Oct. 19, seeking to find a cause of the disease and stop it before it becomes a problem. This year marks the second year of the Wellness Day put on by a team from Friends for Life and Breast Cancer Action.

While this year's event did not surpass last year's total, the event did still attract over 100 eager patrons to learn more about healthier lifestyles, raising a grand total of $4,000 for breast cancer research, nearing the closing of Breast Cancer Awareness Month.

The event invited a variety of specialists and experts from the field of health and wellness including physical health, mental health and proper eating.

Organizers wanted to improve on last year's event by inviting guest speakers for more intimate and private presentations. Instead of presenting on the stage, interrupting the flow of the rest of the room, a separate area was built with seating and a projector to allow for more personal learning

UCPR council approves the appointment of two new directors

L'ORIGINAL – At the end of September, council of the United Counties of Prescott and Russell (UCPR) endorsed the appointment of two new directors to the senior management team: Marc-André Périard as the director of Emergency Services, and Alexandre Gorman as the administrator of the Prescott and Russell Residence.

Marc-André Périard has been an employee of the UCPR since Jan. 12, 2004, and has served as deputy chief of Emergency Services since Dec. 29, 2008. He will begin as director on Oct. 28., following the retirement of Michel Chrétien, the current director, who has held the position since Nov. 8, 1999.

Alexandre Gorman comes to the UCPR from the private sector. He completed his studies at l'École de santé publique at l'Université de Montréal, and holds a Master's degree in Health Services Administration in addition to a degree in Economic Evaluation. He will assume the position of administrator following the retirement of Louise Lalonde, the current administrator, who has held the position since Dec. 20, 2006.

"I would like to congratulate both Mr. Périard and Mr. Gorman for their appointments as our next director of Emergency Services and as our next administrator of the residence," stated Stéphane P. Parisien, chief administrative officer of the UCPR. "As we are well aware, these departments both operate in a rapidly and constantly changing environment, especially at the financial and legislative levels. The United Counties will require their expertise in order to facilitate the transition and adapt to these new realities."

"On behalf of council, we are pleased to be able to find replacements with such significant experience in their respective fields," added Robert Kirby, warden of the UCPR council. "We would also like to thank Mr. Chrétien and Mrs. Lalonde for their hard work and dedication during all their

Drouin headed back to Parliament

Voters have decided to keep the riding of Glengarry-Prescott-Russell in the red. After a nail-biting race, with Conservative candidate Pierre Lemieux and Liberal candidate Francis Drouin neck-in-neck, Drouin came out on top. While the election has been a tiring experience for Drouin, he still states that he's eager to get back to work to collaborate with his fellow parliamentarians. "I think collaboration is key and my approach is that I've worked with conservatives in a majority government; I've worked with conservatives on bills that I've agreed with and I've worked with NDP on bills that I've agreed with and I think that's going to be a role in the minority government," he said. After his victory was confirmed, Drouin spoke with supporters at Deja Vu Restaurant & Bar in Hawkesbury. After making a short speech, Drouin invited his wife Kathryn and newborn son Léo-Xavier to share the experience with him and thank them for their love and support. Drouin first won the Glengarry-Prescott-Russell riding back in 2015, after winning the seat over Pierre Lemieux who held the position for nine years. As of press time, Elections Canada listed the following voting statistics: People's Party, Jean-Jacques Desgranges, 1,135 votes (1.8%); Libertarian, Darcy Neal Donnelly, 268 votes (0.4%); Liberal party, Francis Drouin, 29,991 votes (47.4%); Independent, Daniel John Fey, 231 votes (0.4%); Parti Rhinocéros, Marc-Antoine Gagnier, 187 votes (0.3%); Conservative party, Pierre Lemieux, 22,849 votes (36.1%); Formerly Green Party, and current Independent, Marthe Lépine, 2,017 votes (3.2%) and New Democratic Party, Konstantine Malakos, 6,619 votes (10.5%). At press time, Elections Canada had 270 of 271 polls reported.

RUSSELL – Students of Russell High School got a taste of the excitement of voting in a federal election with their own student mock election sponsored by Elections Canada.

This exercise lets students experience firsthand the voting process and practice the habits of active and informed citizenship.

"You walk over to get your ballots from the table, you go to the usher to see if there is any open [booth] and you vote," said Sophia Santoro, one of the student deputy returning officer.

A second student deputy returning officer, Brody Saxe added, "there's also different roles for people to play, we're both deputy returning officers. There's also scrutineers for each party that make sure the election is fair."

During the week, students were taught about the different parties through different banners set up throughout the school and their civics classes.

"We hope students walk away with some sense of what happens when you turn 18 and you're able to vote," said Santoro. "Start to get to know your parties that you side with, so when you turn 18, you'll know who you'll want to vote for."

Saxe added, "I believe you can get a liking for voting and [it can] give you a reason to go vote."

Results of the student vote were counted on Mon., Oct. 21, but results were not available by press time.
